13-16 March 2023, Perth (Boorloo)

Are you an Aboriginal person aged between 16 and 30, living in Western Australia and considering a career in Tourism?

Through the generous support of Lotterywest, Aboriginal Youth from across Western Australia will have an opportunity to explore career options available in the tourism industry while attending the World Indigenous Tourism Summit (WITS) in Perth.

WITS will present a unique opportunity to meet with other First Nations youth from across Australia and the world to learn from each other, share stories, as well as network in a professional setting with experienced tourism operators, mentors and Elders who are leading a range of tourism-based social enterprises, including eco-cultural tourism activities aimed at caring for Country.

Sessions also include skills-building and practical tools for building and sharing stories and using film, digital storytelling, social media and marketing platforms with Indigenous leaders.

What covered:

- Return Airfares and/or travel support (for regional delegates)
- Perth Accommodation (for regional delegates)
- Full Conference Registration and conference meals

You will need to be referred by an Aboriginal tourism business or organisation and be prepared to represent that business/organisation during WITS.
